TRACKING THE NUCLEAR WARHEAD CONVOY...

A new film by Camcorder Guerillas

Award winning video activist collective Camcorder Guerillas will be launching their new film about NukeWatch in January 2008. The film will uncover how fully assembled Trident nuclear warheads are transported on public roads in secret convoys, passing large centres of population such as Oxford, Birmingham, Manchester, Newcastle, Edinburgh and Glasgow on their journey between AWE Burghfield in Berkshire and RNAD Coulport in western Scotland. Interviewing grassroots activists, environmental journalists and international disarmament experts as well as local authorities and fire services, about the dangers and illegalities of this deadly cargo, the Camcorder Guerillas offer an insight into an issue usually well hidden from the public. Find out how ordinary citizens in the NukeWatch network track and campaign against the convoy and its deadly cargo – and how you can help put an end to this nuclear madness.

This film is a must see for all people concerned about nuclear weapons and their transportation around the UK. Make sure people in your area get the chance to see this important film. Order a copy now for £10 (including action pack and postage) and start to organise a screening in your area.

Camcorder Guerillas is a volunteer collective of filmmakers and activists.

As an organisation or an individual, you can support the collective and help us complete this film by pre-ordering a copy.

If you or your organisation is able to pre-order an institutional copy (costing £75) you will be directly supporting the production of the film. Both the Camcorder Guerillas and NukeWatch will appreciate your generosity.
